Angevines offer site for swim/rec. area

North Road parcel would come with few conditions and at no cost, but it would need to be developed

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel may soon have the land it needs to develop a swimming and recreation area.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine have offered to donate a parcel of land on the North Road (formerly the Northwest Bethel Road) that, according to members of the town Beach Committee, appears to be ideal for such a facility.

The land is being offered without cost to the town, with very minor conditions, and the Angevines are willing to let the town set the exact size of the parcel.

The offer -- which would ultimately need to be approved by town voters -- was made public at Monday's selectmen's meeting by selectman Don Bennett, who is also chairman of the Beach Committee.

The land in question is located between the North Road and the Androscoggin River, just over two miles from Route 2.

The parcel straddles Chapman Brook, but the plan would not be to use the river or the brook for swimming, but rather to dig a pool in the field on the west side of the brook.

No rush for land offered by Bethel Station

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has agreed to look into the possibility of asking voters if the town should accept a donation of 17 acres of land from Bethel Station; but individual selectmen also expressed some misgivings about the proposal -- largely because of the four-year-old retention pond located on the parcel.

The land in question is undevelopable for Bethel Station's purposes.

It lies between the Parkway and the Androscoggin River. At the eastern (Route 26) end of the Parkway, the parcel extends the entire way from the river to the Parkway; at the western (Route 2) end, the parcel extends from the river to the northern boundary of developable roadside lots that would be retained by Bethel Station. (Those lots include, for example, the parcel intended at one time as the site of a McDonald's restaurant, and a parcel next to the Maine Market that could be used to expand the parking lot at that business.)

Going for the gong

Undaunted by the hot and humid Mollyockett Day weather, Trevor Kendall, 7, puts a mighty effort into that old fair-ground standby, the muscle-man hammer contest. Trevor was not alone -- approximately 2,500 people turned out for the this year's festival, according to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. State changes mind on Telstar asbestos removal

Will speed up its share of funding

By ALISON ALOISIO

Funds to remove asbestos at Telstar High/Middle schools have been approved by the state -- although not in the amount district officials had hoped for, the School Board learned Monday.

SAD44 applied for aid in funding a $500,000 asbestos removal project during the past school year. Under that proposal, the state and district would have shared in the cost.

The district proposed removing and replacing ceiling tiles, as well as asbestos thermal insulation around heating pipes. The work would be done by a company specializing in asbestos removal.

But the application was turned down, at least temporarily, as state officials said other schools in the state had more pressing needs. District officials assumed they would not hear anything further from the state until the next school year.

But recently, said Supt. Kent Rosberg, the state decided to conduct an on-site inspection of the 30-year-old Telstar complex. Following the inspection, approval was given for a $250,000 asbestos removal project.

The state would pay for approximately $100,000 of the total. The rest would be loaned to SAD44, interest-free, with payback over five years.

The partial project would remove asbestos from areas that have the highest access to the public, said Rosberg. Other areas would have to be fixed in a separate project at a later date.

Rosberg said it is too late to plan work for this budget year.

The proposal would likely be put before voters next year as a separate warrant article on the school budget referendum, or possibly as a special referendum vote, he said.

New home school to expand beyond the family

By ALISON ALOISIO

It's home schooling -- group style.

This fall, Mahoosuc Mountains School will open its doors in East Bethel to a dozen middle-school age students.

Operated by educator Marie Hickey, the school will offer a co-operative approach to learning. That means parents may become actively involved in teaching or other support activities while Hickey directs and teaches the overall program.

The school will serve students in grades six through eight.

The price tag: $5,000 for the school year, with some taken off if parents "barter" their services with the school. Procedurally, all the students will be home schooled, with their parents submitting home schooling plans to satisfy state requirements.

Setting up such a school "has been a dream of mine for a long time," said Hickey.

She has taught all grade levels in the public schools over the past 20 years. But even as she was doing so, Hickey was paying someone else to home school her two oldest children, Darby and Fern.

They attended Woodstock Elementary School in their younger years. But, said Hickey, "my kids have never been in middle school."

Darby, who graduated from Gould Academy, is now in college,

BIG MEETS BIGGER--Although vastly outweighed by a St. Lawrence & Atlantic train, this dump truck still caused the train and six of its cars to derail in a collision last Thursday in Gilead. The driver of the truck, Darrell Sgrulloni of Gorham, N.H., approached the unlighted crossing from the North Road and looked to the right -- but failed to look left, according to police. The train struck the truck and pushed it about 120 yards down the tracks, stopping just short of another crossing. Sgrulloni received minor injuries in the accident. The truck, which was new, was a total loss. Repairs to the damaged railroad track were made on Friday. (Photo by Jeremy Grimm)

Hanover adopts site-plan ordinance

By ALISON ALOISIO

At a special Town Meeting Tuesday, Hanover voters adopted a site plan review ordinance by a 32-24 vote. But some townspeople -- saying the document was too restrictive on small business -- called on the Planning Board to revise it as soon as possible.

The state requires towns to have such a plan in place by 2003. A proposal last year by the Mead Corporation to build a chip plant in Hanover also spurred the town to work on an ordinance.

The Mead plan was eventually dropped in response to strong opposition from townspeople.

But while several people Tuesday mentioned the chip mill in arguing for the ordinance, others worried about the effect it might have on smaller businesses.

Richard Duka, owner of Hanover Iron Works, wondered if noise restrictions of 55 decibels might affect his ability to operate.

Planning Board chairman Mike Brown said the ordinance could affect existing businesses. But selectman-elect Scott Gould said Duka should not be affected unless he planned a major expansion.

The ordinance covers construction of any new nonresidential building, as well as building expansions of 1000 square feet or 25 percent of the existing structure.

Bob Fortin, who had been a vocal opponent of the chip mill, favored approval of the ordinance to give the town more control over development. "It's the best thing we've got right now," he said.

Planning Board members were also split on the issue. Barbara Gross said when planners scrutinized the ordinance late in its development, some members wanted to make changes before bringing it to voters.

But vice chairman Roger Robin said the ordinance was no more restrictive than state rules. And, he

MISSPENT TIME AND MONEY

To the Editor:

On July 16, I was able to witness the improper utilization of time and money by the Bethel Police Department. I was arrested for "failure" to pay a fine ($48 for speeding in August 1998). Upon arrival at the Oxford County Correctional Facility, I was able to provide sufficient evidence that the fine was actually paid and my presence was never actually needed to rectify the clerical error. I was then given a cup of coffee and copy of the Norway Advertiser to compensate for the inconvenience while I waited for the paperwork to be completed.

If the officer on duty had listened and waited five minutes for me to locate the receipt from the Rumford District Court, the improper utilization of time and money could have been avoided and justified.

NICEST, FRIENDLIEST PEOPLE

To the Editor:

I'd like to share an experience I had in June while attending an NTL program. On Tuesday, June 15, our session finished early. The weather was beautiful so I decided to go shopping and then for a walk.

I walked up Paradise Road; it took me about 20-25 minutes to reach this beautiful vista. I sat on a rock and then heard thunder. Concerned, I started my walk back down Paradise. I did not go very far when it began to pour buckets. I was soaked to the skin and I began to run and it began to thunder. I was trying to figure out, where do I go for shelter? One car drove by me going up Paradise, the woman inside laughed at me as she drove by. A second car drove by me going down Paradise; I got a friendly wave. I then tried to wave down that car and the woman saw my arms moving in her rearview mirror and stopped. I could tell she was reluctant to pick up a stranger, but she did. She was very kind and offered me a towel; it seemed that she may have come back from a laundrymat. I told her how frightened I was when I heard the thunder. I could not thank her enough.

I never got her name, so I hope she reads your paper and maybe sees this. She dropped me off at the Bethel Inn. I always felt that Bethel has the nicest and friendliest people. My experience on "Paradise" just confirmed that.

Another big thank you,

Samoy Rosen

FUTURE SITE OF A TOWN SWIMMING HOLE? The land being offered to Bethel by Ernest and Alberta Angevine lies between the North Road and the Androscoggin River. It includes parcels on both sides of Chapman Brook. Don Bennett, chairman of the town Beach Committee, stresses that the idea is still in a very preliminary stage and could be derailed if unforeseen problems are found at the site. But if not, he said, the most likely location for a swimming pool would probably be in the field above, on the west side of the brook. On the east side would be space for parking and picnicking along the brook (left), which would be crossed by a footbridge. "That's pretty much the vision Ernest and Alberta have for it," Bennett said.
(Photos by Michael Daniels)

The pool would be filled by the high water table in the area, with also the possible option of augmenting the natural level by drawing water from dug wells or Chapman Brook, Bennett said.

On the eastern side of the brook, there would be room for parking and a picnic area along the brook. A wooden footbridge over the brook would connect the two sides.

The site could also be used for tennis courts, a baseball field or similar activities, Bennett said, and in the winter the pond could be used for ice skating

All these ideas are extremely preliminary, Bennett said Tuesday, but he credited "the vision of the Angevines," for the fact that the possibility has reached the stage where the Beach Committee can begin a serious study of the options on the site.

Bennett said the committee has had preliminary discussions with the Maine Department of Environmental Protection, and that the site was walked by Peter Marcinuk, a district conservationist with the Natural Resources Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Neither the discussions nor the site walk turned up any serious obstacles to the proposal, Bennett said.

Marcinuk, Bennett said, "put his stamp of approval on the basic idea."

As for the conditions expected by the Angevines, they include only that the town will pay any legal expenses involved in the transaction, and that a stockade fence will be erected around part of the boundary of the parcel.

Ernest Angevine told the selectmen Monday that given the high water table at the site, the family also hoped the town would opt to install portable toilets rather than a septic system with a leach field.

Angevine acquired the land in 1974, he said Monday, and at that time approached "a couple of selectmen" about the possible use of the property by the town, "but nothing ever came of it."

Interest in the possibility was renewed recently when the town attempted to purchase the former Ivy Philbrook parcel on Songo Pond but was unable to reach agreement with the seller.

Bennett said he was "just tickled to death about this. I think it's a heck of an idea, quite a vision. I think it's something we can go to work on."

The committee hopes to come up in the next few weeks with a plan and the facts to show that plan can work, Bennett said. The committee will also review where it thinks the boundaries of the property should be.

After that it will be time to sell the plan to voters, he said.

"We want to be able to say to them: 'The Angevines have offered this. We have looked closely at it. We think it will work. Do you want us to go ahead?'"

Speaking for the committee, Bennett said: "We feel this is the true meaning of community spirit and giving on the Angevines' part, and we certainly hope the rest of the community will pull together behind us and contribute whatever they can to make this work."

Greenwood tires headed south

GREENWOOD--Tires from the former Gordon tire facility will be chipped and hauled away for use in two southern Maine roads. A Department of Environmental Protection official said a contractor is expected to begin work on the 2.2 million tires this fall. They will be used in a new road in Biddeford and on a new interchange at Exit 8 in Westbrook. All the tires should be used up in the two projects, which are planned to be completed by the spring.

Teen hurt in Grafton fall

GRAFTON TOWNSHIP--A Windham teenager was injured last Wednesday when he fell and slid 200 feet on watery rocks near the Appalachian Trail. Fourteen-year-old Jonathan Woodbury fractured his skull and collarbone. The injuries occurred at about 9 p.m., when Woodbury slipped while crossing a moss-covered ledge covered with running water. He was a member of an outdoor leadership group sponsored by the Windham Parks and Recreation Department. The group was between the Mahoosuc Trail and Speck Mountain when the accident happened. An instructor with the group hiked out and went for help while a second instructor and other teens in the group tended to Woodbury. He was airlifted out by a Navy helicopter at about 8:45 a.m. Thursday morning and taken to Central Maine Medical Center. He is expected to make a complete recovery.

County unemployment jumps

PARIS--Unemployment grew more in Oxford County this past year than in any other county in Maine, according to the state Labor Department. The June rate of 7.1 percent jumped from 5.8 percent for last year. Four hundred people went on the unemployment list during the year, for a total of 1,930. Gerard Dennison of the Labor Department attributed the growth to factory layoffs. The Mead paper mill in Rumford cut 100 jobs recently, while another 100 county residents lost jobs when Bridgton Knitting Mills closed. In contrast, Androscoggin County's unemployment rate dropped from 4.7 to 4.2 percent in the same time period. The state unemployment rate was 4.1 percent in June. Washington County had the highest rate, at 9.1 percent.

Home tour postponed til 2000

BETHEL--A Home and Garden Tour planned by the Bethel Historical Society for this weekend will not take place. Organizer Susan Hurlihy said full schedules on the part of homeowners prevented the event from going forward. The last time such a tour took place was during the town's 1995 Bicentennial celebration.

Church to get fresh coat of paint

BETHEL--The Methodist Church in Bethel is slated for a new coat of paint next month. Fundraising for the project has been ongoing since spring, with money coming in from donations, food sales and other fundraising events. The necessary funds have now been raised -- although, said member Musa Brown, other maintenance projects still need funding. The church will be painted white -- the same color it has been for many years.

Reggae at Sunday River

NEWRY--Sunday River Ski Resort applied for and received a catering permit to serve alcoholic beverages at a Reggae Concert Aug. 28. The concert, planned to draw between 3,000 and 5,000 people, will take place near the South Ridge Lodge.

Cleanup cost more this year

NEWRY--The cost for the 1999 Newry Cleanup Day totaled $2,566, selectmen learned Tuesday. The day, which takes place each June, allows property owners to drop off white goods, metal, tires and construction debris for disposal. Last year's cost was approximately $1,800.

Open Farm Day Sunday

AUGUSTA--The 10th annual Open Farm Day is scheduled for Sunday, July 25. Many farms will have demonstrations, displays, farm-raised products for sale and animals and crops to experience. Activities include barn and field tours, milking, hay rides, petting zoos, nature trails, samples for tasting and refreshments. Bethel-area farms participating in the event include the Inch by Inch Farm in Greenwood City, the Beech Hill Farm and Bison Ranch in North Waterford and the Pleasant Valley Farm in West Paris.

Lynx kittens doing well

AUGUSTA--Two lynx kittens recently found by biologists in Aroostook County are still being monitored by the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. The animals appear to be in good condition. They and their mother are part of a five-year field study to determine the status of lynx in Maine. The kittens were located June 18 in a den with their mother, who had been fitted earlier with a radio collar. More recently, the mother has been observed hunting for food for her kittens. She is expected to continue to feed them well into the winter months. Maine is located at the extreme southern edge of the lynx species range.

School

while Fern will be a senior at Gould this fall.

Having taught in several middle schools, Hickey said she has seen harassment issues she says students must face in both middle and high school.

Educators at that level "try hard to monitor and teach" and do a good job given the circumstances, she said. But, said Hickey, they are up against a large roadblock -- class sizes. With 20 students in a class, she said, it's difficult to monitor both social and academic needs.

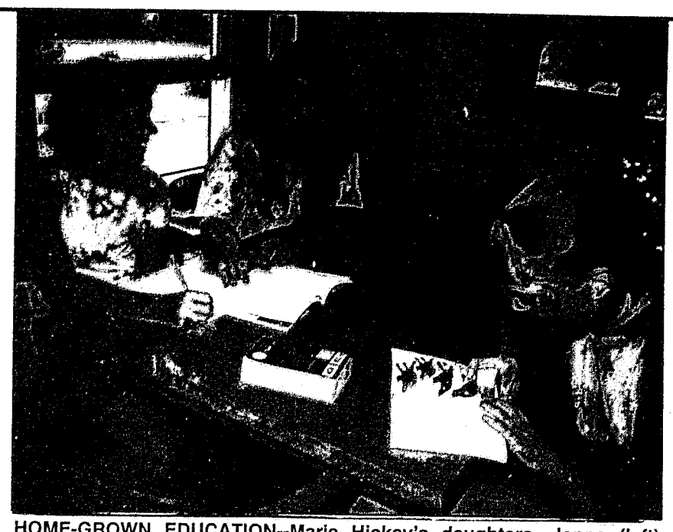
This past school year she had the opportunity to stay home and home school her two youngest children, Fran, 13, and Jenna, 12. It's an experience she now wants to share with other parents and children.

So far, the Mahoosuc Mountains School has a half-dozen students for the fall. Hickey recently started advertising her program.

She intends to plan the curriculum to coordinate closely with the SAD44 curriculum, so that if needed, students may transfer back and forth easily. It will also give students common ground between the schools, she said.

Hickey has stayed closely involved with SAD44, volunteering this past year in school-associated soccer, snowboarding and mountain biking activities. Her students will be able to participate in those, as well as other, after-school activities in SAD44. "I don't want to build (Mahoosuc Mountains School) as a separate entity," she said.

She also plans to be involved in bringing the Odyssey of the Mind back to SAD44, as well as the Science Olympiad. Both programs encourage students to take part in challenging projects, and the students may take the projects to an interscholastic competition.



HOME-GROWN EDUCATION--Marie Hickey's daughters, Jenna (left) and Fran, will be among a dozen middle school students learning their lessons at Hickey's home this fall. She plans to open the Mahoosuc Mountains School as an alternative educational setting for students in grades six through eight. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

Individualized studies

Each student at MMS will have a personal education plan tailored to his or her strengths and weaknesses, said Hickey. MMS will offer a plan to kids who now fall between the cracks -- average students, for instance, who don't qualify for special education services but have problems with one or two subjects, she said.

Gifted and talented students would also benefit, said Hickey, because they can proceed at an accelerated learning rate.

Her lower student-teacher ratio, she said, will also allow her to offer more attention to students doing "integrated" programs of study.

In an integrated program, students explore a particular topic -- a foreign country, for instance -- in ways that utilize several different subject areas. If a student chose a particular country, said Hickey, he or she would learn about the climate and geography, and might also analyze the needs of the citizens in areas such as housing, clothing and technology.

In addition, the student might also keep a writing journal from the perspective of a young person living in that country. And to study math, the student might evaluate the country's monetary system.

Public schools also offer integrated studies, said Hickey, but again, class sizes may make it difficult for individual students to get as much out of the experience as they might.

Hickey does not at this time plan to extend her program to high school age students. With Gould Academy available locally, she said, "we have an alternative to high school class sizes."

Gould classes average 10 to 12 students, she said. Classes at Telstar High School average about 16 students, according to principal Ted Davis.

Hickey's overall educational theme is one of "sustainability." "Sustainability represents the concept of mindful living on an everyday level. Sustainability practices in agriculture, homemaking, socializing, childrearing and other facets of life are those practices which enable humans to live successfully as interdependent beings on this earth" she writes in her brochure.

In practice, Hickey uses lessons in organic gardening, for example, to teach environmental responsibility.

The results

Hickey's older children are a good advertisement for her educational approach.

Darby, a top student at Gould, received scholarships that almost completely paid his way through two years of college at Johns Hopkins University. He will be a junior next year in the Friends World Program, which has campuses in nine countries.

Fern is also a top student at Gould, and will spend her senior year studying in Venezuela. She will graduate at age 17.

Jenna and Fran have enjoyed their home schooling experience with their mother, they said. "If you don't get something right, there's more time to practice and have the teacher help you learn it," she said. Fran said the home school setting makes it easier to concentrate on getting her work done.

Both girls said a disadvantage of the setup is lack of contact with their friends, although participation in afterschool activities has been a help.

They said they are looking forward to adding more students to their program this school year.

Bethel Station

The 17-acre parcel is also the site of a multi-use pathway the town hopes to have completed by this fall.

Bethel Station manager Elaine Reindeau told the selectmen Monday the idea to donate the land began with the pathway, but grew from there. "It started that we (Bethel Station) were going to donate just enough land to do the path itself, then to join the path with some parking on Route 2. ... but (town Project Specialist Don Murphy) had some thoughts that it would be nice to extend some spurs along the path and for the town to have a little more supervision over the riverbank for future years."

Some DEP conditions would come with the land. Most notably that the town maintain a 100-foot vegetative buffer (i.e., don't cut the trees) along the river and maintain the retention pond on the site.

The pond was built in 1995. It is intended to catch water coming off the paved areas of Bethel Station, allowing the water to slow and deposit any sediment or other pollutants it might be carrying.

That worried selectman Don Bennett. Because of the possibility of pollution problems down the road, he said, "I have a real concern about having anything to do with that pond."

Selectman Bob Everett agreed, saying that oils and grease that stayed with the sand could create a future hazardous waste problem.

Reindeau said Bethel Station has had no problems with the pond, and has never had to perform any maintenance on it. "They're built so they are not a heavy maintenance item," she said.

Murphy said he examined the pond "and some sediment has developed, but not a lot."

Reindeau suggested that the engineer employed by Bethel Station could meet with the selectmen to discuss their concerns, but selectman Reggie Brown said such a session would probably be more appropriate for a public hearing -- if the selectmen decide to pursue the donation.

Regarding the unsightly white pipe which sticks up in the middle of the pond: Reindeau said it is an unused electrical conduit that could be cut off at water level and capped.

The selectmen are expected to discuss the donation again at their next meeting.

Hanover

said, it provided for a waiver and variance process if requirements proved too restrictive on a given business.

Gould said the town would never be able to come up with an ordinance to please everyone. "If we wait and wait and wait until it's perfect ... it's never going to be perfect," he said.

Several people said if the ordinance was approved, the board should then go back and try to build more flexibility into it. The revisions could then be brought back to a later Town Meeting.

The ordinance was eventually approved in a written ballot, but following the vote moderator Wendy Hanscom reminded planners of the sentiment favoring revisions.

Mead building accepted

Voters also approved accepting the unrestricted donation of a building and land at 21 Ferry Road from the Mead Corporation.

The building, set up as a two-family dwelling, would be suitable for use as a Town Office, selectman Bruce Powell said. He estimated it could be retrofitted for that purpose at a cost of about $15,000.

The town currently has no office. "We don't have a good place to meet," said Powell. "It's very difficult to operate out of people's living rooms, kitchens and basements."

It might also be possible, he said, to rent part of the building to help cover costs.

Other options for a Town Office, such as the Town Hall or old firehouse on the Howard Pond Road, are not practical because they do not have running water or sewer, he said.

Voters agreed overwhelmingly to accept the donation. The selectmen were asked to put together a retrofitting proposal for the annual Town Meeting in October.

The voters also agreed to an easement to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife for vehicle access over Old Route 2 and the Ferry Landing Road to the Androscoggin River. IFW plans to build a boat ramp on the site.

David Bushey of IFW said his department also has money available to purchase public access to Howard Pond, if a property owner was interested.

"No" to K of P Hall

Voters overwhelmingly turned down a request to accept the donation of the Knights of Pythias Hall on Main Street.

Membership in the organization has dwindled in recent years, prompting the remaining members to seek an alternative method of supporting the building.

But with no running water or sewer in the building, and very little land to install those services, selectmen were skeptical of the proposal.

They would try, they said, to find other options for the building.

If no other alternatives can be found, said K of P member Clem Worcester, the building would probably be put up for sale and might eventually be torn down.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

Ersel (Grammie) Murphy enjoyed the celebration of her 95th birthday on July 14. Many people from near and far attended. Anyone who did not sign the guest book might stop by and do so; it would mean so much to her.

Last Thursday, Bob and Ginny Keniston spent the afternoon and evening attending a social visit and potluck supper at the oceanside home of Bob and Marion Cram on Cousins Island in Yarmouth. Delicious food and friendly conversation was the order of the day for 38 members of the dance club at West Cumberland.

Barbara "Bobby" Kuzyk won the $50 gift certificate at Books N Things with her custard pie in the Pie Contest, sponsored by the Bethel Library on Mollyockett Day. The recipe was one of Jane Van's, and she used to make it special for Eastern Star dinners.

Polly Davis was winner of the Bethel Library Quilt Raffle. The squares for the beautiful "Grandmother's Flower Garden" quilt were donated by Richard and Doris Valentine and stitched by the Cross Country Quilters.

Jean McGuire got her house back after having much company Thursday through Sunday. Michael and family, along with in-laws from Farmington were guests.

Allan Howe is building a new log house on Intervale Road.

The Stevens Family gathered at Small Point over the weekend, including Ranald and Sarah, Barbara and Dale, Scott and Rhonda and family from South Portland.

Lindley and Pauline Wieden attended the surprise 50th birthday party for their daughter, Cynthia Paine, at York Harbor Inn on Thursday, July 15. Her brother and three sisters were present, as were some of their children. Thirty-one friends and relatives attended. Also present were Bud and Mary Paine.

Guests of Al and Jackie Cressy this week are her brother, Paul Kenyon and friend from Rhode Island and daughter, Karen Winfield.

Blaine MacKay of New York City visited his parents four days this past week. He helped install the electrical system in his sister, Susan MacKay Parker's new home off Paradise Road. Scott and Susan MacKay Parker with sons Ross and Gavin have moved home to Bethel from southern California.

Stephen Morrill, Christine and Soral, former residents of Bethel, visited friends here this past weekend. Stephen has a business in fine cabinet making, "North Star Woodworking," at 76 Riverside Street, Portland. His brother, Jonathan, works with him.

The Bethel jaws of life was used Monday, July 19, on Route 2 at a rollover near Gilead.

Phyllis Dickey of Augusta, Ola-Mae Wheaton of Fryeburg and Darlene Merrill of Falmouth were weekend guests of Charles and Caroline Merrill.

Mike and Lorrie Hoeh spent the first week in July at Wilson's Fishing Camp on the Miramichi River in New Brunswick. Mike was fly fishing for Atlantic salmon and Lorrie toured the area from Fredericton to the east coast.

Corey and Pat Brown, Sarah, Emily and Christopher of Rock Springs, Wyo., and Stanley Brown called on George, Danna, Kate and Evelyn Nickerson Monday evening.

Rebecca Ricker and Clara Whitman were in Norway shopping recently and ate at Burger King.

Mildred Newell fell in her apartment and was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital, where it was discovered that she had broken her arm in two places. It was the upper part of her left arm. She returned home the same day. She fell in her apartment again at night on July 12. Rescue personnel came to help her up and on the 13th they came back and took her to Stephens Memorial. It is now expected that she'll be there a few days. Nancy Anderson was driving by and saw the ambulance here and stopped by to make sure I was all right.

Nicole Gagnon of Cumberland Center visited her grandmother, Irene Russell, recently and took her out to eat. She told her grandmother she had been chosen to go with a large group to Australia and New Zealand. The group consists of both boys and girls and they will be gone about three weeks and will stay with different families while away.

It is reported that Eva Lane is doing well after knee surgery, but that she is in a lot of pain. She is at Ledgeview and will be having therapy while there.

Paul Bartlett visited his mother, Helena, at the Bethel House recently.

I went to the bank recently with my walker but found the sidewalk very rough in front of Ruthie's. I wish it could be fixed before someone takes a bad fall.

Judy Gagnon and Margaret Quinlan were both recent visitors of Irene Russell. Judy took her mother out to lunch and shopping, and Margaret took her for a ride.

A man was at the Bethel House recently cleaning carpets in halls and the community room. He did a very nice job. When this place first opened in '83 they used to have the carpets in the apartments done, too.

Cindy Millett stopped by to check on me one evening recently.

Vivian Chase has returned to the Bethel House after visiting with a friend in Lewiston for a few days.

Ruth Silver has returned to the Bethel House after knee surgery.

One of my friends at church told me that the lightning in that storm on Monday morning, July 5, damaged her computer so it cost her $50 to have it fixed.

Another friend told me that the rain was coming in a door and she had all she could do to close it because the wind was so strong.

The Mowerys are back home after going to Michigan on their vacation.

John Holliday delivered a fine message for us on Sunday, July 11. We had a social hour after church.

Skip Bennett, Carl Brown, Rudy Royer, Bob Schuesler, Greg Frasier and Conrad Vandenburg had special singing and it was great. Judy Webster accompanied them on the piano.

We sang one hymn that I do not recall singing before, but I hope we do it again. It was "God Leads us Along."

John Holliday's message was "The Lord is my Shepherd."

Maybe you are just vacationing in Maine and would like to attend church on Sunday mornings. You would be most welcome to come to the Bethel Alliance Church located on Route 26 across from Telstar High School. The service starts at 10 a.m. We have a wonderful service with lots of singing. Once a month we have a social hour after church, and if you are there on that Sunday you would be most welcome to join us there.

"The devil is subtle, deceptive and sly/He's clever and tricks us to swallow his lie,/But his cunning methods we're sure to discern,/By making God's warning our daily concern." --DJD

Thanks to all of you that sent me cards for my birthday; also the letter, that was just great. The sender said maybe it was better to send happy birthday greetings in writing rather than singing, but I know the singing would have been great.

LELAND BROWN HONORED

Leland "Mike" Brown of Bethel, Pauline Godreau, Dr. Bruce Ross, and Jeanie Tyler of Rumford, and Bill Hussey of Peru were guests of honor at a dinner held at the Madison Motel on Wednesday evening, July 14, sponsored by the Rumford Community Hospital to commemorate their many years of dedicated service as members of the Board of Trustees.

Brown served as a trustee for the past 29 years, one term as chairman of the board and five terms as vice chairman of Rumford Community Home and on various other committees over the years.

Rumford Community Hospital CEO John Welsh presented the honored guests with a clock plaque. Also present was Bill Young, president of Central Maine Medical Center.

In January, Rumford Community Hospital merged with Central Maine Medical Center of Lewiston and plans are on the drawing board for a new hospital in Rumford.

West Paris

by Miriam Inman

The West Paris Senior Citizens are compiling a list of the West Paris citizens who are 85 years of age, or older. If you are in that category, or know of some who are, please send the names and birth dates to Avis Ellingwood, P.O. Box 99, West Paris, ME 04289. Those in the nursing home count only if they were West Paris citizens before entering the home. The purpose of this is to know, in the future years, who is supposed to have the cane. We appreciate your help.

Vince and Beverly Stevens attended a birthday party on Saturday for Vince's uncle at Five Islands.

Vance and Connie Bacon were camping at Cathedral Pines in Stratton/Eustis last week. Carmen Hadley spent a few days during the past weekend visiting with them and staying at the Stratton Motel.

Vicky, Brant and Caroline Sanborn were at camp on Hicks Pond Thursday through Sunday. Sandy was able to join them Saturday night and Sunday.

Much sympathy is extended to the family of Frances Bradeen upon her death. She will be sorely missed by her family and friends.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Claribel Poland's sister, Margaret King, and son, Richard King and wife Grace, have been visiting from New York. They have now returned after a nice visit.

Gilman Tuell has been back in the hospital for some more surgery but is now home again and doing much better.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Frances Bradeen, who passed away recently. She will be missed. She was liked by everyone who knew her. Frances leaves a large family, most of them live in this area.

Also, sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Leo Hemingway Sr., who died this past week. Services were held at Andrews Funeral Home on Monday. Leo was the father of Lolalee Dillingham of South Woodstock.

Percy Monk and his road crew have been doing a good job on the Andrews Road near the Union Church.

My sister, Evelyn Dunn, called me one day recently to say her husband Jim was coming along fine after he had some surgery, and also said they are all fine in Campton, N.H.

Our neighbors, Elizabeth and Murrell Blazier, have been spending a lot of time at their camp during the hot weather.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that at the July meeting the secretary, Annella Burnham, presented a program on Woodstock's Sesquicentennial, narrated by her late husband Ray. Olive Risko read a research report and Mary Billings provided a bouquet of flowers. Elaine Roberts and Ruth Cox watched the museum in the afternoon. The August meeting will be the annual picnic at the home of the president, Kathleen Bean. Curator Billings suggested reproducing a mural of the town in the museum to sell and President Bean is looking into it.

The Woodstock Historical Society Museum has received a plate with scenes of Atlantic City on it. They also received some pieces of pink lustre. Annella Burnham helped at the museum on July 3. Paul and Mary Billings watched the museum recently.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that everyone should make use of what Mother Nature gives us before Father Time takes it away."

ANDOVER NEWS

The Andover Historical Society will hold its 48th annual Flower Show on Aug. 7, Andover's Olde Home Days.

The theme of Olde Home Days 1999 and the Flower Show is "Country Holidays."

The historical society will have tote bags with the Lovejoy covered-bridge logo for sale. Also there will be place mats featuring the Town Hall curtain. The photo of the curtain was in the Bethel Citizen earlier this year.

Note paper will be on sale with the covered bridge and also, new this year, the East Andover School House. We still have mugs, the Andover coverlet and also our 2000 calendar will be available.

Both the Elm Street building and the East Andover School will be open for Olde Home Days.

Patricia Barlow Springhorn visited last week with her mother, Vivian Barlow. On July 11 they both left for Vernon, British Columbia, Canada.

Phyllis and Holman Farrar of South Andover entered the Rumford Community Hospital last week. He has returned to his home.

Margaret Smith, holder of the Boston Post Cane for Andover, observed her 97th birthday on July 12.

Andover Flower Show

The 48th annual Andover Flower Show will be held Saturday, Aug. 7, at Andover Historical Society Building. Following are titles and information for the various arrangements, which are to be submitted between 5:30 and 9 p.m. Friday evening, Aug. 6. One entry per category.

January, New Years: Arrangement with white flowers.
February, Valentines: Sweetheart Bouquet.
March, St. Patrick's: Arrangement using herbs, grasses and/or wild flowers.
April, Easter: Flowers in a basket.
May, Memorial Day: "In Memory of Someone Special."
June, Graduation: Teens; song or book title.
July, Fourth of July: Red, white and blue arrangement.

October, Halloween: Single specimen (bottles provided).
November, Thanksgiving: Houseplants (must be in possession six months).
December, Christmas: Arrangement in a dish garden (children through 12 years).
Mountain greenery and accessories will be permitted in all entries.

Doors will be open to the public from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. Doors will be closed during judging.

Exhibits may not be removed before 4 p.m., but must be removed from the building by 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Awards will be given for first, second, third, honorable mention, best of show, and judge's award. All decisions are final, and the judges may withhold any award at their discretion.

The flower committee will exercise all care but cannot be responsible for loss or breakage.

Bryant Pond

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans met on Monday evening with eight members present. A request for membership was read. As we were visiting the cemeteries, this was an open-and-shut meeting. It was voted to have a potluck supper of cold salads, etc., at the next meeting. Each one is to bring a dish to share. This will be at Michelle Cary's, unless it is raining. Four of the cemeteries were visited. They were the ones that some members didn't know where they were. One cemetery has been cleaned since last year, but one was in sad need of repair. The next meeting is Aug. 9. General order number one was received.

Looking ahead at events at the Baptist Church -- on July 20 is the quarterly business meeting at 7 p.m. On Aug. 1 the Rev. Don Diffenderfer will be at the church. He served for many years at Dublin Christian Academy. Aug. 21 is the Sunday School picnic, details to be announced. Remember Women's Bible Study is on Thursdays at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Men's Discipleship Class is also on Thursdays at 7 p.m. Choir practice is at 4 p.m. on Saturdays at the church.

Curator Larry Billings has set up a special exhibit in the Historical Society museum for the rest of the summer. It is composed of plates from many different states of the union. It is quite attractive and interesting, so please visit and enjoy. These plates are part of the society's permanent collection.

At the July meeting, the secretary, Annella Burnham, presented a slide program on the Woodstock Sesquicentennial including the parade and a visit by the mayor of Woodstock, England. Olive Risko read a research paper provided by Ruth Cox. Mary Billings provided a handsome vase of flowers to decorate the museum. Ruth Cox and Elaine Roberts watched the museum in the afternoon, and Martha Ricker and Zane Howe fixed the society's vacuum cleaner. Much thanks to all. The August picnic will be held at the home of the president, Kathleen Bean. The historical society values your interest and support. It maintains a fine museum to benefit everyone. Its programs and activities are designed to interest you. Curator Larry Billings has given a handsome floral print to the society. They have also received a wooden tumbler, a book on Civil War poetry and some paper memorabilia. It now has a large collection of such items either filed or in notebooks. You might find them of interest when you visit the museum. Archives throughout the state are set up to preserve such material.

Joseph and Maggie Hoyt have been visiting their father, James Hoyt, for a week.

Callers on Beatrice Farnum have been Jane Palmer and grandsons, Ryan and Seth Reed, Arthur and Jane Wardwell and Danijean Reynolds.

Marybeth Hoover spent a couple of days at the Wardwells with Danijean.

Locke Mills

by Lorraine Larson

Somehow, I managed to lose a week and had no news in last week. I always get mixed up on long holiday weekends. I expected Ralph, because I thought he said Fourth of July vacation, which he did, only he meant his July vacation and this year he planned it around his annual camping trip he takes with his buddies in Dover-Foxcroft. So he left his car with his Aunt Callie in West Greenwood on Thursday, the 13th, and his buddies picked him up there and it was on to Dover-Foxcroft. On Sunday they will leave him at West Greenwood and he will pick up his car and come here for a few days. Since I didn't get it straight about either of my children's vacations, I didn't ask how long he planned to stay. I probably wouldn't have gotten it right. It has been sort of a different year anyhow. Ralph and several of his IBM friends usually have a picnic on or about the Fourth of July every year, but one of their coworkers and friends was killed on his motorcycle returning home from work when someone pulled out of a driveway as he was rounding a curve. Since it happened just a few days before the Fourth, no one felt much like picnicking.

I used to get a lot of news from Davista Lodge, but haven't in recent years, so I was really pleased when Bob Davis brought in the following.

Bob and Jeanne Davis of Wilmington, Del., have been at their camp, Davista Lodge, on Round Pond, since late June. Their first guests were their daughter, Carol Parker and her children, Lindsey and Christopher of New Delhi, India. Soon after they left, the K. Terry Jackson family arrived from Commerce Township, Mich. Ellen Jackson is their other daughter, whose son, K.T., celebrated his sixth birthday here.

The Davis' son, Clark, will be here with his family in late July. Clark and Jean's daughter, Julia, will visit camp for the first time.

Jean's parents, Irene and Val Delaney of Arroya Grande, Calif., will also visit, as well as Jean's sister, Pat, and her daughter, Jessie, of Kennebunkport.

The Davis' four grandchildren are the fifth generation to enjoy vacationing at Davista Lodge.

One of the things I forgot to mention a couple weeks ago was that on our way to Lewiston to put Marcia on the bus, she suddenly exclaimed, "Look at that deer. Do you think she can read?" And sure enough, there was a pretty doe standing on the side of the road next to a "No Hunting" sign. As we slowed up she took off, bounding across the road and into the woods. It has been a month for animals. We saw a moose swimming in a pond and the other day on our way to Norway we saw a juvenile bear cross the street ahead of us. I had never seen a live bear, so it was a new experience. I'm sort of glad it was not a full-grown one, this one was large enough. And those baby ducks are full-feathered and nearly as large as their mothers now.

And on the domestic front, Poochie gave us a scare Tuesday evening when he collapsed on the last stretch of a walk. He was pretty warm, so I let him drink out of the pond, which I guess was a mistake because we had just gotten back to the Knoll Road when he heaved it all up and then just went down. Andy had to carry him home. We took him to the vet's, but Dr. Hall couldn't find anything seriously wrong, as he was much better by the time we got there. I got pretty perturbed with his behavior, but I was glad to see him back to his usual Poochie self the next day.

Andy and I took a ride through Dixville Notch to Colebrook and Pittsburg, N.H., Sunday afternoon, as a sort of special treat to celebrate our second wedding anniversary, which was Monday, but we had appointments with some healthcare providers that day, so we knew we wouldn't get to celebrate much on Monday. I had never been to Colebrook, but I had heard a lot about it, as my grandmother used to go there when I was a young girl. She also stayed at the Balsams, which was a large hotel even then, but has expanded even more through the years. I love the entrance to the Notch. You are greeted by a sign "Falling Rocks," which gives one a lot of confidence as the car proceeds along the road through cliffs four or so stories high. Somehow you wonder what you are supposed to do about it if one does fall. If you are lucky, it will miss you. If not -- something will get damaged; the car, you or both. At any rate, I don't care to linger. No sense in tempting fate.

The countryside is beautiful, a lot more like Vermont than Maine. It looked as if a violent storm had come through between Colebrook and Pittsburg, as many trees were bent or broken fairly recently. We saw a beautiful lake which I thought was a big river because the water flowed swiftly downstream, but the map says "lake," so who am I to argue. The only thing that could be improved was a couple equipment junkyards on the way into Colebrook, and the best introduction to one's town I wouldn't think.

One thing that I noticed was how tourist-oriented everything was from loads of literature to very clean, nice rest areas with clean facilities. We had a lovely Pekinese greet us at one of the state-run stops. He wanted to come in the car to meet Princess. We were surprised she wasn't upset about that. I guess she thought he was nice, too.

Anyhow, we enjoyed our trip very much and were even home in time for our evening meal. Sometime we'd like to go earlier and go into Canada. My parents lived in Canada for six years and I just missed being born there by a couple months, so I've heard a lot about Canada, too, as it was back then. I suppose it has changed some; everything else has.

Andy and I attended the open house for Ersel Murphy's 95th birthday. She looked lovely. I should have looked that good on my 65th. It must be that big family that keeps her so young. Grandson Chuck and Kathy Mason were celebrating their 24th wedding anniversary that day, too.

This last week I had a real treat. I was invited to visit the "old home place" where I was born in 1908. The people who now own it were very kind and thoughtful to take me there. I have passed by it many times over the years; each time brought a memory. This time I really turned into the driveway that took me "home."

I noticed it all had been attended with apparent care with dips and rises over the natural contours of the lawns neatly trimmed. What memories the trees my dad planted came to me. I even remembered the one from which I fell, but I didn't recall why I had climbed it.

Densely wooded evergreens grew nearby. That brought the sad memory of when my youngest brother got lost for hours in those woods. The ending was good. He was found safe. I have often wondered how one so small (around three) ever made it. He said, "I followed daddy's mill whistle." Dad worked in the engine room of the mill near home.

The barn door was the same; I had opened it many times. From there on through the rooms of the house it had entirely changed and was so beautifully improved. I shall remember it all, always.

Many thanks to my friends.

LITERACY GRANT PRESENTED--The SAD44 Adult Education program has been awarded a Maine Family Literacy Initiative grant for the coming school year from the Barbara Bush Foundation for Family Literacy. Adult Ed director Cathy Newell received the grant from Bush at a ceremony at the Biddeford Community Center June 30. SAD44 was one of 15 recipients of the $15,500 grants. The program will serve families through a coordinated menu of adult education, early childhood education parenting and intergenerational programs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fran Piccirillo and children are in Switzerland visiting relatives.

Milton Inman has put a new roof on his porch.

Dot Betts has sold her house and will be moving soon. Her neighbors do not feel happy to have her go. We have enjoyed her for several years.

Rena Curtis' family attended the Wyman reunion.

Milton and Eleanor Inman have been visited by a moose several nights and my visitor, we believe, was a bear. One has been seen near my driveway, but I have never seen it.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Lindsey Barnard from Seaford, Va., has been staying with her grandparents, Albert and Eleanor Nelson this past week and going to horseback riding lesson and trail rides at Deep Woods Farm in Albany each day.

Joshua Jones did some work for Frances Grant this past week.

Molly Nelson has been working with the horses at Deep Woods Farm this summer. They have 13 horses there at this time.

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19, will be meeting at the K. of P. Hall here in Stoneham on Thursday night, July 28 at 7 p.m. Reports will be made on the Maine Department Convention. Discussion and plans will be made concerning the National D.U.V. Convention being held in Maine this year in August.

Travis Fox has been building a deck on the Carolyn Heino house and making other improvements.

Jesse Adams has recently moved into his remodeled home here in Stoneham. It's nice seeing the young people in town doing good work.

Thirteen of the Nelson family were at camp at Wilson's Mills last Friday and Saturday. Everything was fine and fun. We only saw one moose and one pretty little deer on the way.

Albert Nelson Sr. has been selling quite a lot of wood to campers in the area.

Albert Nelson Jr. and Eric Nelson attended the races at Loudon, N.H. this past weekend. Also attending the races were Everett Andrews and several others from this area.

The Flynn family is carrying on their tradition of spending summers on Keewaydin, even though it's a painful reminder that grandmother, Kate, is no longer with them. Kate died Nov. 19, 1998 and the family will be having a memorial service for her on Saturday, July 31, at 2 p.m. at the East Stoneham Congregational Church. All are welcome.

Jackie Flynn's brace got thrown away last fall so now the grandkids can't call her a Star Wars Stormtrooper anymore. I'm sure they'll think of a new name. They love their "gram."

Well, the first granddaughter was born into the flock. Jenny and Chris Coleman welcomed Katherine Rachel (Katie) in June. Liz and Chris Abreu had their first, Jonathan,. back in January. Karen and Ray Mooney arrived Sunday, with Chris, Eric and Ryan, ready to swim and celebrate the Fourth of July at the lake. Cathy and Jay Cornette and their son, Anthony, will be arriving to Turtle Hut soon. Cindy and Kevin Lyons and their two, Daniel and David, have settled in for the long haul.

Kelly Flynn has secured a respectable position at P.R.O.P. in Portland. Her loving, supportive and attentive friend, Mike, visits when he feels like it.

The group gets bigger every year. I always said, the more the merrier -- right?

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham

It's another hot, humid, ozone-laden Monday. The weather forecast said it would cool down. Perhaps it will. For now, it is 6 a.m. and only 60 degrees. That is much better than over 90. Now if we could just lose the ozone, I, for one, would be much happier.

Yvonne has been visiting with her sister Margaret and brother-in-law Kenneth. It was good to see them. Tasha was excited. She's insisted on running over there every chance she got. She even managed to somehow get off her chain.

Mollyockett Day was nice, although it seemed to have fewer local vendors and the food offerings were few. I, like many, miss the Rotary chicken dinners of a few years back. I wish they'd revive those or that some other group would. I know it is a lot of work, but it brings a lot of people to the Common and keeps them there.

Quote for the week: "Patience is the ability to idle your motor when you're feeling like stripping your gears." This quote was contributed by Yvonne.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover

On Monday, a week or two ago, David and Eeyore were telling me how many flies David killed in the shop the previous Friday afternoon after I had gone home. I think it was 18 or 19. I told him that he would have to save the wings if he wanted to collect the bounty on them. Then a discussion ensued about how much they would be worth, and the figure of 50 cents a ton was agreed to, by all except David. He was especially put off by the requirement that the wings be dried of all cutting oil to qualify. Then Odie added, "You gotta be careful when you remove the wings not to get too much shoulder meat with them. That could add quite a lot of weight."

With that, David decided he would take his wings to Berlin, N.H., "Because they pay more, I think. Besides, they don't have an income tax to pay on your profits over there. Also, if worse comes to worse, I can probably trade my wings to some of those New Hampshire fellers who bring their recyclable cans to Maine for the nickel deposit; it shouldn't take too many wings to weigh as much as an aluminum can. 'Course on the other hand, those glass bottles will weigh up like a lot of wings. I may have to do a little more research before I decide for sure. Maybe you guys will increase your offer, if I make it in New Hampshire.

On another subject, I have been asked to advertise that the Mason-McMillin Bridge Club is wanting more players for this September start of the season. This is an opportunity to meet several folks you may not know very well and get to know them better. We have players of all skill levels from beginners to "pretty crafty," and all age levels from "spring chickens" to "over-the-hill," and we have a pretty good time, too. The best part is, we only have to play about every other week and at times mutually agreed upon by you and the opposition, so it is pretty informal. For more information, or to sign up, phone Dan Grover at 836-3334 (daytime) or 836-3533 (evenings), or phone me at 836-2802 (evenings). (Dan and I are on the bridge club committee.) Please call no later than Aug. 1, so we have time to make out the schedules.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

The Josephson residence in Cumberland was the scene of a family get-together cookout of the Bachelders on Sunday, July 11. Attending were Ras and Karlene Bachelder of North Newry, their oldest son Don and son Brett of Georgia and other son Travis of Bethel, Claire and George Romano of Edecomb, Heidi and husband Arlan Littlefield of Bethel, Michelle and Paul Josephson and three-year-old son Nikaulous. There was a surprise birthday cake and ice cream for Travis. George Romano did the chicken on the grill -- mm, good. A good time was had by all, and of course I was there also to enjoy.

On the way home, we stopped at Poland Springs so that Karlene could say hello to her brother Jeff Don Bachelder and son Brett headed back to Georgia after visiting with his grandmother, Julia Goodwin in Belfast.

Call to Worship at the Newry Community Church was July 11 at 9 a.m., with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The prelude was by Jay Hanscom and a responsive reading by Owen Wight. The Message of the Day was "What is it Worth?" from PS 119:77. "Let the tender mercies come unto me, that I may live; for thy law is my delight."

Owen and Bill Wight did some mowing in my yard one day. Sylvia brought me some cookies to cheer me up after that crazy storm of July 13 wrecked a few things in my yard, broke a couple of windows and sent stuff flying all over the yard, and one picnic table fell apart.

Melissa Straus spent some time with her grandparents, Bill and Sylvia Wight, recently.

Betsy Clark gave me some veggies from their garden. Thank you so much everyone.

Clean water...

It's more than just a pretty picture.

Clean water is essential for our tourism and fishing industries, our health and our recreation.

But Maine's water quality is in danger. Our lakes, rivers and coastal waters are threatened by pollution from run-off and toxic chemicals.

There are things you can do in your home and community to protect Maine's waters.

JULY 22 1999

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

Midsummer is upon us and the fields and meadows are rampant with goldenrod to remind us to enjoy the warm weather, because it will soon be gone. The Canada Lilies are on schedule. They appear about the Fourth every year. Have you ever heard the song, "Wild flowers will grow where they may?" For example, that commercial for Roundup has a dandelion growing out of Lincoln's nose.

A few years ago Buster Williamson had an old "Scout" truck parked out back. It had a most impressive wildflower garden growing in the truck bed. There were Black Eyed Susans, Lupine and wild Morning Glories. I heard that he uses fish for fertilizer in his garden, so there were probably a few fish forgotten in the debris in the back of his truck. He is quite a gardener, whether he plans it or not.

Last year, Simone Lavallee gave me some of Armand's Scarlet Red Beans. She always has these pretty vines with red blossoms each summer. I planted them in strategic locations, and the only one that came up was in my compost pile, where I did not plant it.

Down in Grafton the Blue Flag Iris grows up in the "moose wallow" in profusion. They survive the tramping around of those moose weighing over 1,000 pounds. Of course, moose do their best to keep them fertilized. Ladies Slippers, Black Eyed Susans and Jack in the Pulpits pop up where you least expect to see them, so admire, ponder and leave them to their own devices. They do quite well without our help.

Congratulations to Susan and Rickie Zamis of Shrewsbury, Mass. Susan is the daughter of Bob and Donna Folsom. Sue and Richie recently traveled to Russia and returned with their newly adopted son, Adam Konstantin, who was born May 11, 1998. He joins his new five-year-old sister, Amanda. He is a bubbly, chubby, beautiful boy who will brighten their life so much. Susan and Richie left Bob and Donna to baby-sit while they played golf at the Balsams. Bob visited all the neighbors proudly displaying his new grandson. At the Mollyockett Day frog jumping contest, Sarah Folsom, age two and a half, placed second.

Happy Birthday to Elsie Fuller, who will celebrate her birthday on Friday, July 23.

The Bird of the Week is the Little Green Heron. Each summer one returns to the marsh along the lake near Brewster Island. He is a small heron with a glossy, blackish-green crown, a chestnut neck, and a white chin and throat stripe. He has a gray-green back and yellow legs. He is a great fisherman and can snap up a minnow in the wink of an eye. He also dives and swims after his victims. He isn't seen too often because he blends so well in the marsh. This bird has an affinity for flying up creeks and rivers. With Stony Brook and the Dead Cambridge River in close proximity, it is an ideal stopping-over point for this bird.

A special Town Meeting will be held Thursday, July 22, at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

More gifts to the Bethel Historical Society in memory of Rodney K. Howe, for the acquisition of a display case, continue to arrive. Among the latest donors are Jack and Sue Cross, Roland and Sally Huston, Lee and Virginia Hutchins, Phyllis H. Roberts, Betty Ann Smith, William and Sandra Carignan, Robert W. and Bettyann Hastings, John G. Howe, Donald S. and Janice Barnhart, William G. and Virginia Hastings, Richard and Jane Hosterman, Royden and Alice Keddy, and Dexter and Janet Stowell. Much appreciation is expressed to all of the above for their generosity.

The 20th annual Sudbury Canada Days will be held this year on August 13-15. A wide variety of heritage-oriented events are planned for this summer festival sponsored each year by the Bethel Historical Society. Traditional craft demonstrators and exhibitors are always welcome. Anyone interested in this area should call Lorrie Hoeh at 836-3011 or Grace McKivergan at 364-2697.

Children 6-12 are urged to participate in the children's parade and games. Teens can participate in the badminton and croquet tournaments. Participants are also needed for the horseshoe tournament as well.

Local artists are encouraged to show their work at the art show. Please call Helen Morton at 824-2644 to let her know what you would like to bring.

JULY 22 1999

A TURN-OF-THE-CENTURY VIEW OF THE BETHEL GRAMMAR SCHOOL, completed in 1894, is shown above with students standing at its High Street entrance. The building was razed in the mid-1950s and much of the debris used as fill for the site of the present video store building just below the railroad tracks on Route 26. This photograph is one of thousands owned by the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds for its Regional History Center on Broad Street in the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House, which now houses the museum shop, exhibit galleries, and offices, but when completed will also provide improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, research, and traditional crafts. Once the center is fully operational, it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or 800- 824-2910 or use the e-mail address history@bdc.bethel.me.us or visit the Web site (http://orion.bdc.bethel.me.us/~history).

Bethel Seniors

The door prize was won by Barbara Hathaway and the raffle, which was a wreath made and donated by Louise Twitchell, was won by Cheryl Thibodeau.

The speaker was Ann Ledger, who gave a very informative talk on the hearing impaired. She also showed how to make the letters of the alphabet in sign language and gave suggestions on how to talk to someone who is hearing-impaired.

Birthday cakes were donated by Tillie Meyers.

July birthdays are: Joyce Bennett, Norma Cross, Celia Gorman, Barbara Honkala, Grace Morrill, Bud Paine, Eva Perry, Raymond Saunders, Connie Vautour, Barbara Wheeler, Cheryl Thibodeau and James Wiles.

The next meeting will be the annual picnic to be held at Powell's campground in Hanover on Aug. 11 at 11 a.m. The club will furnish hamburgers, hot dogs and the drink. Members are to bring salad, chips or dessert, also a lawn chair.

The next trip will be Aug. 25, which is a Casco Bay Cruise. The cost is $30 and does not include lunch. Payment is to be made on Aug. 11. The bus will leave the Bethel Family Health Center at 7 a.m. and there are seats still available.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

What a week it is has been for the chamber. Between our tenth annual Golf Classic and all the events we do on Mollyockett Day, our volunteers and staff have been "straight out." Please read the Mollyockett Day and Duck Race thank-you ads for all the names of the people and businesses that helped make our events possible. A special thanks to Joanne and Burt Best, who took a day last week (while the staff was getting ready for Mollyockett Day) to deliver brochures and other chamber items to our members throughout the area.

In addition to everything else we had going on, we decided to display our beautiful "World's Tallest Snowman" chainsaw sculpture in the parade, which meant moving the three-quarter ton piece of art out of the chamber office and back (no easy venture). Many thanks to Western Maine Supply for the use of their fork lift and dolly, to Dave Berry for coordinating this and driving in the parade and to the following strong men, Doug Zinchuk, Frank Lowell, Victor Breton, Aaron Crockett, Jim Heath, and Mark (all from Western Maine), Jim Sysko, George Driscoll and Dave Berry, and to artist, Ken Irons for making needed repairs on the sculpture.

Welcome to our newest members of the chamber, Ivy Mortgage, Frank Flaherty, representative and Western Maine Internal Medicine, Dr. Tom DeLuca, owner.

The chamber staff is busy getting ready for the eighth annual Powerade Maine State Triathlon Classic, to be held this Sunday, July 25. Many thanks to Coca Cola Bottling Company for their title partnership and to Orthopaedic Associates for their supporting sponsorship, as well as to committee chairs Dillon Gillies and Glenn Gordon. There is still time to pre-register for the event, and post-registrations will be accepted until 7:15 a.m. at Gould Academy, in front of the Field House. The start of the event will be at the Bethel Inn's Lake House on Songo Pond at 8 a.m. Spectators are encouraged to park on the Baker Road, off Route 5, since parking by the Lake House is extremely limited. Many thanks to the Bethel Inn and to Gould Academy for the use of their facilities.

Family reunions

FARNUM-BUCK

There were 39 family members present at the Farnum-Buck Reunion on Saturday, July 10, at the home of Robert and Sandra Thomas, 165 Thomas Hill Road in Norway. A potluck dinner of hot dishes, salads, breads and desserts was served by the dinner committee: Scott Billings, Wilma Day, Sandra Thomas and Bernice Easter.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Albert Farnum. A thank you was given to the hosts. Those present enjoyed the Chinese auction, family pictures and albums, swimming and lawn games.

Election of officers was held: president, Scott Billings; vice president, Albert Farnum; secretary, Bernice Easter; treasurer, Wilma Day; historian, Stephen Sessions; Dinner Committee, Wilma Day, Sheila Swartout, Eva Poland and Sandra Thomas; Chinese Auction, Queda Billings and Wilma Day.

Next year the reunion will be held on June 24 again at the home of Robert and Sandra Thomas.

The oldest Farnum descendent was Albert Farnum; the oldest Buck descendent was Roland Lord. The youngest of the Farnum descendants were Victoria Errington and Kymberly Couch, both age six. The youngest Buck descendent was Robert Dalzell. Traveling the farthest was Rose Dyer from Dixfield.

Historian, Stephen Sessions, reported he has compiled a report on official records of family history which will be available for sale next year.

GREENLEAF

The Greenleaf Family Reunion was held on Sunday, July 18, at the John Greenleaf camp on Songo Pond. The event was hosted by Joan Greenleaf Wright of Standish and Christine Greenleaf of Winthrop and Bethel, 12th generation descendants of Edmund Greenleaf, who emigrated to Newbury, Mass., from Ipswich, England, in 1635.

The 50 family members, representing the 11th, 12th, and 13th generations, feasted on lobsters, chicken, corn-on-the-cob, and more. In addition to the delicious food, the Greenleafs enjoyed swimming, canoeing, reminiscing and friendly competition in the horseshoe pits. The winners of the horseshoe tournament were Doug Greenleaf of Bethel, 12th generation, and Catharine Wright of Standish, 13th generation.

The honor of being the oldest in attendance went to M. Haldon Lovejoy, 82, of Dixfield; the youngest was Bowen Matheson Greenleaf, 5 months, son of Nathan Greenleaf and Karen Burkett of Lovell. John Greenleaf, Bethel, won the prizes for most children and grandchildren.

Traveling the longest distance were Mark and Lori Greenleaf and children, Elizabeth, Rachel and Alan of Foster, R.I. Others attending were Eunice Adams, Sanford; Everett Adams, North Berwick; Roland, Kathy and Sam Adams, South Portland; Arlene Greenleaf Brown, Bethel; Kurt and Tammy Brown, Westbrook; Bob and Anne Greenleaf, North Scituate, R.I.; Bruce and Susan Greenleaf, Starks; Christine Greenleaf and son Steven, Winthrop; Doug Greenleaf, Bethel, and daughters Leora and Kayla, Denmark; Ed, Kathy and Ryan Greenleaf, Biddeford; Eldon and Ann Greenleaf, Bethel; John and Arlene Greenleaf, Bethel; Nathanael Greenleaf, South Paris; Nancy Greenleaf, North Providence, R.I.; Stephen and Joanne Greenleaf, Rumford, R.I.; Haldon and Virginia Lovejoy, Dixfield; George, Danna and Kate Nickerson, Bethel, and Chad Dumais, Livermore; Rod, Sondra, Scott and Chris Withey, Locke Mills; and Joan Greenleaf Wright and daughters Catharine and Erin, Standish.

Unable to attend, but sending greetings were Rachel Greenleaf, Russellville, Ala.; Helen Lynds, Anson; Yvette Whittemore, Portland; Eddie and Judy Gallant, Belgrade; and Ella Ronco, Phillips.

A wonderful time was had and all are looking forward to the next gathering.
